

Administering Medication Waiver

Ruffing It Doggie Day Care will properly train any staff member who needs to administer medication to your pet. Pill and liquid form medication will be administered at a charge of $1 per time (not per medication). All medications must come in the original bottle from your vet. If your pet is aggressive during medication administration we reserve the right to refuse administering medication to your pet. If your pet requires a pill pocket or any other items to take medication, you the owner must provide these items. (Ex. cheese, peanut butter)

Insulin injections will incur a charge of $2 per injection. Ruffing It will not reuse any insulin needles. All needles will need to be prefilled with necessary dosage amount for each injection. (Used needles will be returned to customer upon request)

By signing this form you or your representatives agree not to hold Ruffing It responsible for any adverse affects to your pet as a result of medication administering while in the care of Ruffing It.

By signing this form, you acknowledge that you understand and accept the terms and conditions set forth by this agreement.
